

The Institute “Domus Salutis”, is one of the most meaningful among the manifold educational, relief and sanitary works promoted by the Congregation.

In all the structures of the Congregation, working in the Church and in the civil society from over 150 years, sanitary activities are practiced in the full respect of the dignity of the human person and the professionals that lend their activity in them they are bound to operate according to the principles of the specific code of ethics of their profession, maintaining tall the ethical profile and adopting coherent behaviors with the moral patrimony expressed from the Catholic church.

Consequently the guardianship of the life, the health's promotion, the recovery of the compromised physical resources, the best assistance for the sick they represent to once expression of the charisma of the Congregation and objectives also pursued tenaciously in the “Domus Salutis”.

In this structure, considered meaningful part of the health bresciana, the charisma of the Congregation is expressed in the assistance to two typologies of sick: the first one with evident necessities of recovery of the physical integrity, compromised following acute or traumatic episodes; the second to sick which the perspective of the recovery is denied but that they have necessity to be accompanied with cares palliative toward a result the most possible calm. In this assignment it also operates a consistent family of Nuns Ancelle professional personnel coadiuvate it motivated to the sharing of the finalities of the institution